RAILROAD NEWS NOTES

Vice President of Lake Shore Knew of Wreck Moment After It Occurred—Has Telegraph Key by His Bed—Alton Newspaper Special Taken Off—Local Items of Interest.

W. C. Brown, formerly of the Burlington, vice president of the Lake Shore line, was one of the first in Chicago to hear of the Lake Shore wreck. Before he arose to a high position Mr. Brown was one of the most expert telegraph operators in the west. Ever since he has been in charge of the operation of a railroad it has been his custom to have a telegraph instrument in his bedroom, and the receiver is always open and working. The key is near the head of his bed in his home on Grand boulevard, and any insistent or urgent call anywhere on the line of the Lake Shore will awaken the vice president instantly. It is his custom every morning on rising to announce the fact to his operating men, and while he is dressing he is receiving his morning train reports from every division superintendent. By the time he is ready for breakfast he has the night's train movement all in his head. Wednesday night he heard the operator at Mentor frantically calling for the Cleveland office, and then he heard the announcement of the disaster. He summoned Passenger Traffic Manager C. F. Daly, and together they sat over the key all night, listening to the song of death borne over the wires.

The improvements on the northbound main Alton tracks between Sherman and Ridgely are going on in full blast. The steam shovel is cutting out many thousand cubic yards of dirt from the banks along the river. The dirt is being hauled to the bridge tracks and the track and bridge are being raised a distance of eight feet. The fact that the big undertaking at that stretch of track and elsewhere along the Peoria & Northern was taken out of the hands of the engineering department and turned over to the maintenance of way, was highly complimentary to the latter. Two work trains, with engines 230 and 240, are constantly in service and another for extra work out of Springfield was installed Saturday.

—(o)—

The Alton newspaper special, as No. 15 is known, made its farewell trip from Chicago to Bloomington Saturday morning. Its abandonment can be regarded as somewhat epochal, as it marks an experiment which was sought by the government for the past ten to twenty years. From time immemorial, the high ball mail train between Chicago and St. Louis has been a source of comment among railway men and postal clerks, and every year the subject has been agitated. The Alton officials of previous administrations were always skeptical about its earning powers and it was only by strong pressure that the present regime was coaxed into giving it a trial. The revenue from the postoffice department is large and those who were in favor of the train argued that it would originate enough passenger revenue to make it pay. This has now been found to be untrue and the train comes off.

The Alton officials are somewhat disturbed by opposition which has been met from property owners between Iles and Murrayville, relative to the operation of the company's surveys. Some parties positively refuse to allow the engineers to walk over their land, and it became necessary for the company to file suit in injunction Thursday. The bill asked a restraining order to prevent the opposition of Marshall T. Rees, Catherine Rees, Erwin Rees and Orna Rees to representatives of said railroad running a survey across their land. The survey is being run in connection with the Iles-Murrayville cutoff of the Alton and the land is between Woodson and Murrayville, and lies in sections 30 and 31 of 14-0. The bill was filed by William Brown and W. T. Wilson, attorneys for the Alton. The company is ready to commence operations on the extension. The contract for the grading has been let and the maintenance of way department is ready to lay the track. The ties are arriving daily by the car load and the first crossing problem where the interurban passes has been solved, the interurban to go under the Alton tracks at the expense of the latter.

Property worth $11,000,000, with 1,200 employees, and operating expenses of $150,000 a month, will be brought under the immediate supervision of J. B. Barnes, superintendent of motive power of the Wabash railroad, on the first of July. Mr. Barnes will be given charge of the car department, the two departments being merged. This will give him supervision of all the cars on the Wabash lines. This step is one of a number of important changes which it is believed will be undertaken by the new management of the Wabash. Since the advent of the new management various innovations of importance have been hinted at and some of them already have taken effect. The first of July probably will mark the commencement of a number of radical changes in policy. Whether separate offices will be maintained at Decatur and Springfield, or whether there will be one office at Springfield, is uncertain. Inquiry at the Springfield shops elicited the response that nothing was known of the proposed change, although the inquiry in turn, "Where did you get your information?" showed that the change is contemplated.

Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Hill, of Peoria, passed through the city Saturday enroute to Jerseyville for a visit with relatives.

C. J. Bradac, agent for the C. P. & St. L., has returned from a business visit in Springfield.

—(o)—

C. E. Cornet, the new Chicago & Alton agent in this place, is rapidly becoming acquainted with the people of the city and county and making many friends. He is a genial gentleman, well posted in the railroad business and thoroughly fitted for his position. The road is fortunate in being represented by such a person.

The employees of the C. P. & St. L. offices at the shops will be the guests of George Squires at Lake Mantanzas to day. They will go with well filled lunch baskets and anticipate a fine time.

The employees of the Wabash shops at Springfield and their friends, to the number of 500, went to Meredosia Saturday morning by rail and from there up the river to Beardstown. They returned to Springfield late last night.

The dime novel is to be eliminated from the train news agent and from the depot news stand on the Pennsylvania line. The officials of the road give as their reason for the order that they consider the sale of such books the greatest breeder of crime known. They have set a wholesome example that is worthy of emulation by other roads and other institutions.
Freedom of the press as a doctrine was never meant to include the circulation of some of the vile products of printer's ink now put indiscriminately before the public.

By inuendos of a varied character the Courier has intimated that the relationship between Mayor Davis and former City Engineer Brown was not of the entente cordiale order. Such inuendos are utterly without foundation, however, and in an interview with Mr. Brown in his office in the opera house block Saturday afternoon he was very candid and frank in his statements regarding the severing of his relationship with the city and as an appointee of Mayor Davis. Mr. Brown stated unequivocally that he left the service of the city voluntarily after being solicited to remain by the mayor.
There never had been any difference between the mayor and himself and his resignation was offered because he felt that in the limited field of city employment was losing an opportunity of securing larger and better opportunities for himself.

Asked as to the advisability of the creation of the position of head light trimmer Mr. Brown stated that it was a needed office and that frequently the work that would now be done by this city employee had to be done by outside help and nearly every month work of this character was necessary and by the employment of a head lamp trimmer this expense would be saved. The increase in the payment of the engineers at the light plant he regarded as right and ought to have been made before. He felt that the job was worth $75 per month rather than $60.

Mr. Brown expressed regret that any man should have gained credence that the relations between him and Mayor Davis were anything but pleasant. He reiterated the statement that he resigned as city engineer with the best of feeling toward the mayor and felt that the regret expressed by the mayor over his resignation was sincere.

A POINT ON PERSONAL BEAUTY.

There is a saying that "Every time a sheep bleats, it loses a mouthful of hay." Every time a woman worries she loses a little of her attractiveness and takes on marks of age.

If your servant scorches the soup or overcooks the meat, never mind.
You cannot afford to worry about it, and if you scold her, you may make up your mind to lose some of your beauty, to let go some of your magnetism.

If the members of the family are habitually late, try to remedy it, but don't worry about it. If you do, you will grow older in the process.

If your husband or children do things which do not please you, do not nag them. This will only aggravate the evil you complain of, and it will cost you some of their love and respect. Every time you nag you will lose a little of your power to charm and attract them to you.

If the cleaners spoil your favorite dress, don't get angry about it. An outbreak of hot temper will take away much more of your attractiveness than your dress could supply.

If you lose your pocketbook, don't worry about it. Worrying will take away much more of your attractiveness than your dress could supply.

If you meet with bitter disappointment, don't fret, don't cry over it.

If you do, you pay a penalty which you can ill afford. No woman can fret and nag and worry, and keep away the marks of age—or retain her beauty and power to please.—From Success Magazine.

A WOMAN ENGRAVER.

It frequently happens that though a woman has been educated for and successful in a special line of work, a few years later will find her engaged in an entirely different line of study and occupation. As to whether this is an evidence of a restlessness or an ambitious mind, the philosophers have not yet agreed. In the case of Mrs. Anna Botsford Comstock, one is almost tempted to think it a mistake—or at least unfortunate for the world—since there are thousands of women who write, but very few who have sufficient skill to be admitted to membership in the American Society of Wood Engravers; yet Mrs.
Comstock, in addition to this recognition of ability, received a bronze medal for wood engraving at the Paris exposition. At present Mrs.
Comstock is conducting classes in nature study at Cornell university, and lecturing and writing on the ways of the "six-footed"—specifically, insects, bees and butterflies.—

After Dinner.

It is unwise to resort to active employment immediately after dinner, and equally undesirable to go to sleep. A half hour's nap in the day is a poor compensation for the loss of several hours during the night, which is sure to be the result. Any one who wishes to secure the full rest required during the twenty-four hours ought never to attempt to obtain a part of it in advance of the proper time.

Useful Hints.

Wash greasy towels in lukewarm water before plunging them into hot soapsuds, which only sets the grease.

Stoning raisins will not be found so disagreeably sticky if a little butter is rubbed on the fingers.

A good cook explains that the secret of her light pastry is that she adds a little lemon juice to the water when mixing.

The toughest meat can be made tender by putting a tablespoonful of vinegar into the pot while boiling.

If roasting, baste with vinegar solution.

Leather Covered Furniture.

Leather covered furniture should be frequently sponged with warm water softened with borax and rubbed perfectly dry with an old soft cloth, then rub in a few drops of glycerin, after which polish well with chamois.

When leather acquires a shabby dull look it may be freshened by applying the white of an egg, slightly beaten, with a bit of flannel.

Vegetable Stains.

If lemon juice and cornmeal were kept on the kitchen sink and the hands wet with one and rubbed with the other immediately after peeling vegetables that stain the hands could always be kept clean and smooth.

Care of Table Linen.

As soon as table linen shows thin places, mend it instead of waiting for it to wear through. A darn nicely done in time will greatly prolong the life of a tablecloth.

Cold Feet Remedy.

A simple remedy for cold feet is to drink slowly two glasses of very hot water just before going to bed.

It will warm and relax the system and improve the circulation.

A FAMOUS SCULPTOR.

The pilgrim for June. Although she has achieved distinction in all lines of sculpture, Miss Emily Yandell's latest and most artistic efforts have produced beautiful sun dials. Miss Yandell is a Konfukian—at present studying in Paris—who talent has been widely recognized. In competition with eighteen of America's foremost sculptors, she received the commission for the famous Carrie Brown Memorial Fountain in Providence, Rhode Island, and she has designed sun dials for several celebrated country homes of the land. Although singularly successful in her chosen work, Miss Yandell does not advise other women to follow it, believing it too severe work for women.

COLORADO.

Which is the best way to reach Colorado? A few decades since the best way to reach Colorado was by wagon or "prairie schooner." Now-days the best way to reach Colorado is via the BURLINGTON ROUTE.

This great railroad has its own through trains over its own rails from Chicago, Omaha, St. Louis and Kansas City, as well as from other important points, direct to Colorado.

You can leave Jacksonville on the Burlington at 11:30 a. m. and make good connection, either at St. Louis or Galesburg, with these through trains, arriving in Denver the next evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The Burlington's Denver trains are standards by which others are judged.
They are made up of the best equipment human skill can devise.

Burlington roadbed is solid and track is smooth, with the result that riding on the Burlington is always enjoyable. The dining car service is known by all experienced travelers to be so good that there is nothing better.

If you anticipate going to Colorado or to the Pacific coast, you will make no mistake if you select the Burlington. Full information regarding rates and connections will be furnished on application to

Olive Oil Shampoo.

Before retiring rub olive oil well into the scalp—put a towel on your head and lay another towel over your pillow. In the morning wash your hair in real warm water, using three or four eggs beaten well together instead of soap. Put a quarter of a teaspoonful of salts of tartar with the eggs while you are beating them. After your scalp is thoroughly cleansed with the eggs do a good job of rinsing. Rinse in several warm waters before using tepid and cold. Use rain water or distilled water if possible.

Useful Hints.

Wash greasy towels in lukewarm
water before plunging them into hot
soapsuds, which only sets the grease.

Stoning raisins will not be found
so disagreeably sticky if a little butter
is rubbed on the fingers.

A good cook explains that the secret of her light pastry is that she adds a little lemon juice to the water when mixing.

The toughest meat can be made
tender by putting a tablespoonful of vinegar into the pot while boiling.

If roasting, baste with vinegar solution.

NAMED MEMBERS OF HIS STAFF

Col. Edward Lang of Fourth Regiment I. N. G. Has Made His Appointments—Allen Widemuth Named as Ordnance Sergeant.

Col. Edward Lang has handed the Journal the following list, comprising a part of the appointments on the staff of the Fourth Infantry, I. N. G.:

Hon. Frank S. Dickson, of Ramsey, to be captain and adjutant, vice Frank D. Whipp, resigned.

David Davis, of Litchfield, to be captain and quartermaster, vice Frank S. Dickson.

Rev. C. A. Beckett, of Centralia, to be captain and chaplain, vice George W. Shepherd, of Alton.

James T. Coen, of Olney, first lieutenant and battalion adjutant.

Allen W. Widenmuth, of Jacksonville, ordinance sergeant.

Don't fail to see the very special line of manufacturers sample silk shirt waist suits at Phillips & Osborne's at prices below the cost of the silk.

MOURNING COSTUMES.

In garments intended for mourning, there is greater elaboration than formerly, but fashion's dictates may not be the choice of a refined woman. Personal taste must be the guide of one adopting the garb indicating bereavement, and conservatism should mark every selection made for her wardrobe.

There is a vast difference between the clothing of the woman who wears all black and of the one who adopts fashionable mourning, but certain rules must be followed.

All glitter and luster must be suppressed in even the simplest mourning costume, and there should be no suggestion of extremes.

Dull finish and preferably a soft, fine weave should characterize all materials selected for mourning. Henrietta, voile, ladies' cloth, wool batiste, crepe-cloth, and muslin-welling are all suitable for this purpose. Silk is much used in lighter mourning, but is not approved as a costume for the first year of a widow's bereavement.

Taffeta in dull finish may be used later, and when deepest mourning is not adopted, shirt waist suits of China silk are quite suitable. The use of crepe has not been so extensive in years as at the present time.

Pure white may be worn with perfect propriety, even where the deepest black is the preferred choice, and for summer and house gowns can not be too highly commended. In wearing white, bear in mind that all white is mourning, but a touch of black gives at once the half-mourning effect.

Where crepe is not worn, chiffon and grenadine are used for the veils draped about the hair. These usually have a border about two inches in depth. The dainty hemstitch sets of fine, white lawn are the choice in neckwear; they lighten the appearance of intense gloom without detracting from the degree of mourning.

Gloves may be either gloe or suede, and in the hot months silk ones are worn. Shoes which avoid extremes of fashion should be chosen. Patent leather should never be worn, dresser boots being of suede finished kid. The Pilgrim for June.

SWEET CORN NOVELTY

How Iowa Man Found World's Most Delicious Ear.

THE RESULT OF AN ACCIDENT

United States Government has been experimenting for years to produce this variety of corn. It ripens in fifty-seven days and is ivory white in color.

What might be called "The Romance of the Art of Corn" is the story of the discovery of the earliest and most delicious sweet corn in the whole world. It is a special discovery from Washington to the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune. Iowa has the credit of this notable discovery, and S. A. Howe of Fort Dodge is the Christopher Columbus of this new world in agriculture.

A part of the original ear from which the white Mexican corn has been propagated is still in the possession of a Sioux City nursery, which has brought the marvelous corn to the point of perfection which has won the unrestrained approval of the United States government. But a few months ago Professor Tracy, one of the experts of the department, to Sioux City to investigate the claims made for the white Mexican. It was convinced:

"The government has been experimenting for a score of years," said he, "to produce a corn of this character—yet really sweet. I have no hesitation in pronouncing this the greatest discovery made in sweet corn culture in twenty-five years."

Professor Tracy backed his enthusiastic approval of the corn by ordering 400 bushels for use at government experiment stations and for distribution. A seed expert of a big firm has traveled to Sioux City to examine into the virtues of the white Mexican. One thousand bushels was the order he left.

MITCHELL'S TRIAL

Judge Tanner, the Government's Star Witness, Cross Examined at Great Length.

Portland, Ore., June 24.—The cross-examination of Judge Tanner, the government's star witness in the trial of Senator Mitchell, began to day. It was shown by Tanner's own evidence that Mitchell had warned Tanner not to mix in any matters before the departments of the government and not to receive any remuneration for any services the senator might perform in Washington. Tanner said there was no understanding with Frederick Kruebe that the money paid by him to Tanner was in return for the services of Mitchell and that the latter had no direct knowledge of the source of his monthly remittances, his share of the earnings of the law firm of Mitchell & Tanner, which were forwarded to the senator at Washington.

Tanner said under cross-examination that never to his knowledge did Mitchell ever send a check from Kruebe to the firm for services rendered. Tanner testified that at the time of changing the original contract of 1897, which occurred in 1901, Mitchell was deeply involved in official business and that he was shortly afterward taken with severe illness. Further that he knew personally of no services rendered by Mitchell before the department at Washington in regard to Kruebe's claims that Mitchell had not performed for hundreds of other claimants without pay.

A sale is about to take place here. It will be the most talked of sale we ever had. There will be an absolute sacrifice of profits.

We intend that there shall be no dull spot here during the summer season. Besides, we need a great deal of room for the new goods soon to arrive.

When we say the saving will be at least a third on every piece of furniture in the house, you can imagine that it will be a lively sale.

Commence Monday morning, 8 o'clock. The choosing, of course, is best right now. Just read of some of the reductions.
